Information Collection and Use

The Contemporary Arts Museum Houston (CAMH) retains

- contact information volunteered by the user
- aggregate information on what pages consumers access or visit.

The information we collect is used to improve the content of our website and to notify consumers about upcoming events at CAMH. We occasionally share names, addresses, and/or emails of members with other reputable arts organizations to help them contact consumers for marketing purposes. The information is not shared with other organizations for commercial purposes. CAMH may occasionally email information about another organization's event to customers on CAMH's email list; the email addresses are not shared with that other organization.

Security During the Purchase/Donation Process

CAMH uses industry-standard encryption technologies when transferring and receiving consumer data exchanged with our site during the purchase/donation process. There are also appropriate security measures in place in our physical facilities to protect against the loss, misuse or alteration of information that we have collected from you at our site.

If you do not want us to share your information with other companies or organizations, please let us know by mailing us at the address provided above. Upon request we provide site visitors with access to all information [including proprietary information] that we maintain about them. Consumers can access this information by mailing us at the above address.

Privacy Policy Revisions

From time to time, we may use customer information for new, unanticipated uses not previously disclosed in our privacy notice. If our information practices change at some time in the future, we will post the policy changes to our website to notify you of these changes and provide you with the ability to opt out of these new uses. If you are concerned about how your information is used, you should check back at our website periodically.

If you feel that this site is not following its stated information policy, you may contact us by mail at the above address.
